HINTS ON RAISING CORN. Corn in drills three to four feet apart, and the stalks 8 to 42 inches apart in the row, will give the best yield to the acre; but where land is cheaper than labor, it is usually more profitable to plant do most of the work of tillage. The hill system lets warmth in on all sides, which is advantageous con is a sun plant and prospers best under warmth. The drill system prevents the stalks from crowding and shading each other. If planted in hills, the seed should be dropped four to six inches apart, so that the stalks ks and leaves will not interfere. The distance spart of hills, or drills, and of the individual stalks, depends both upon the strength and richness of the soil, and the variety in size of the corn. A good soil will support a nearer growth without depriving the roots of adequate nourishment. For the smaller varieties of corn, those growing only 4½ to 6½ feet high,

THE POWERS OF CONGRESS. The Constitution declares, in express terms, that each House, the Senate and House of Representatives, each acting for itself, shall be the jidges of the raturns, eleption and qualifications of its own members. It is for each House to settle that question under the Constitution, and under the solemn sanction of an oath, and can we believe that either House would admit any member into its body, to participate in the legislation of the country, who was not qualified and fit to sit in that body and to participate in its proceedings? They have the power, not the two Houses, but each House for itself. The Constitution further declares that no State shall be deprived of its equal suffrages in the Senate of the United States without its consent. Then, where do we stand? All that is needed to finish this great work of restoration is for the two Houses respectively to determine the question. "Oh," but some will say, "a traitor might come in." The answer to that is, that each House must be the judge, and if a traitor presents himself cannot either House know that he is a traitor [applause]; and if he is a traitor, can they not kick him out of the door and send him back, saving to the people who sent bim, "you must send us a loyal man."

CHOLERA PREVENTIVE:

1000 L. THE GREAT ZINGARI BITTERS. THIS WONDERFUL REVEDY was discovared and introduced about twenty years ago by Dr. S. Cheopeus, an emineut Egyptian He had long seen and felt the want of some remedy which would strike at the root of discase, and so prevent much of the suffering orbich the human family was then compelled to

The great question was presented to his mind every day in vivid colors as he moved as among the sick and dying, and observed the inefficiency of nearly all the remedies then in use. Thus he was lead to think and experiment; and after ten years of study and labor. ment; and after ten years of study and labor, he-presented to his fellow man also wouderful ngari Bitters. The eff of of this preparation in the prevention and cure of disease, was so We will sell Hats cheaper than anybody else. flattering marks of royal favor were bestowed upon him who discovered it. His name was placed upon the Roll of Nobles, and a gold medal with the following inscription—Dr. S. Cheopens, the Public Benefactor-was pre-sented to him by the Viceroy.

The preparation has been used in several epidemics of choiers, both as a preventive and curative measure, and with such great success that it has been introduced into nearly all the general hospitals of the old world. The old saying that in dunce of prevention is worth a pound of care, applies with mar-vellous force to cholers, and therefore any

All pathologists now agree that the cholera poison acts on the system through the blood, and that any combination which acts on the excretory o gans, and keeps them in working order, must prevent a sufficient accumulation of the poison to exert its terrible effects on the organism. This is true not only of cholers, but of nearly all other maladies, espe-ially the different forms of fevers.

The Zingari Bitters is just such a remedy as the above conditious require. It nots on the organs of exerction and secretion, keeping up a perfect balance between them. This Bitters is composed entirely of roots and herbs, so nicely concocted that every organ is noted upon, and put in tone. Its taste is pleasant and its effects prompt and leating.

The physician (and my good friends) said that the first cold I took must prove fatal. Early in January I took a severe cold, and fortunately was occupying rooms at No. 32 BOND STREET, directly over your office. I think about the 16th of January I procured a bottle of your Pulmonic Syrup and commenced taking it freely. My feet and limbs were very much swollen, and all the symptoms of a speedy death seemed to accompany my cold. I sent for my former physician, and stated to him that I was taking your mediclues, and after showing them to him, and having tasted of them, &c , he replied: "You naving tasted of them, ac, ne replied: "You can take them if you like, they will do you no harm."
